

Environmental Policy

Unipart Dorman is committed to protecting the environment and where it is practicable, safe and economically sound will minimize any adverse part its activities have on the environment.

We will manufacture and supply materials and assemblies in an environmentally responsible manner. We see our environmental performance as an important aspect of our wider Corporate Social Responsibility.

The Company will comply with any appropriate legal requirements.

The company will work within the framework of the Unipart Group Environmental Policy.

Responsibility for the Environmental Management System (EMS) and environmental performance of Unipart Dorman rests ultimately with the Director and General Manager along with the Senior Executive Team. Nevertheless, every employee also has responsibilities within the system and it is considered essential to develop and secure commitment from all employees and other stakeholders.

The Unipart Dorman Executive Team believes that the implementation of this EMS and the continual development of the Company's environmental performance will produce benefits for our business, our customers, employees, and all other stakeholders.
